Evaluating the Fund's Structure

The small-cap value universe typically has an element of low quality (such as a low return on equity or a percentage of non-earners, etc.). Therefore, when evaluating the Fund's structure, we seek a quality premium to the benchmark (such as a higher ROE) and higher-than-benchmark growth rates with valuations similar to, or below, the benchmark.

Small Cap Value's Death is Greatly Exaggerated

The American Beacon Small Cap Value Fund outperformed the Russell 2000 Value Index during each of the market cycles highlighted below.

■ R5 Class (AVFIX) ■ Russell 2000 Value Index ■ Russell 1000 Growth Index

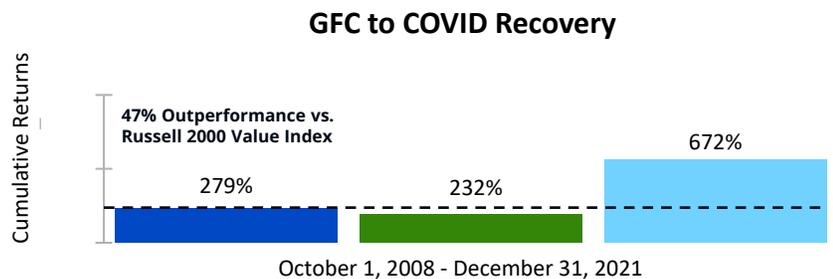

Small-cap value has generated significant outperformance relative to large-cap growth since 2000.

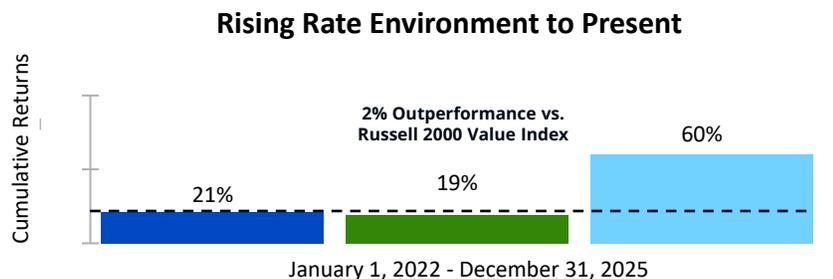

Following the dot-com technology bubble of the 1990s through the global financial crisis (GFC) of 2007-2009, large-cap growth investors suffered wealth deterioration.

After the GFC, growth stocks were propelled by policies designed to help stimulate the economy. Despite growth's dominance, small-cap value investors generated attractive absolute returns.

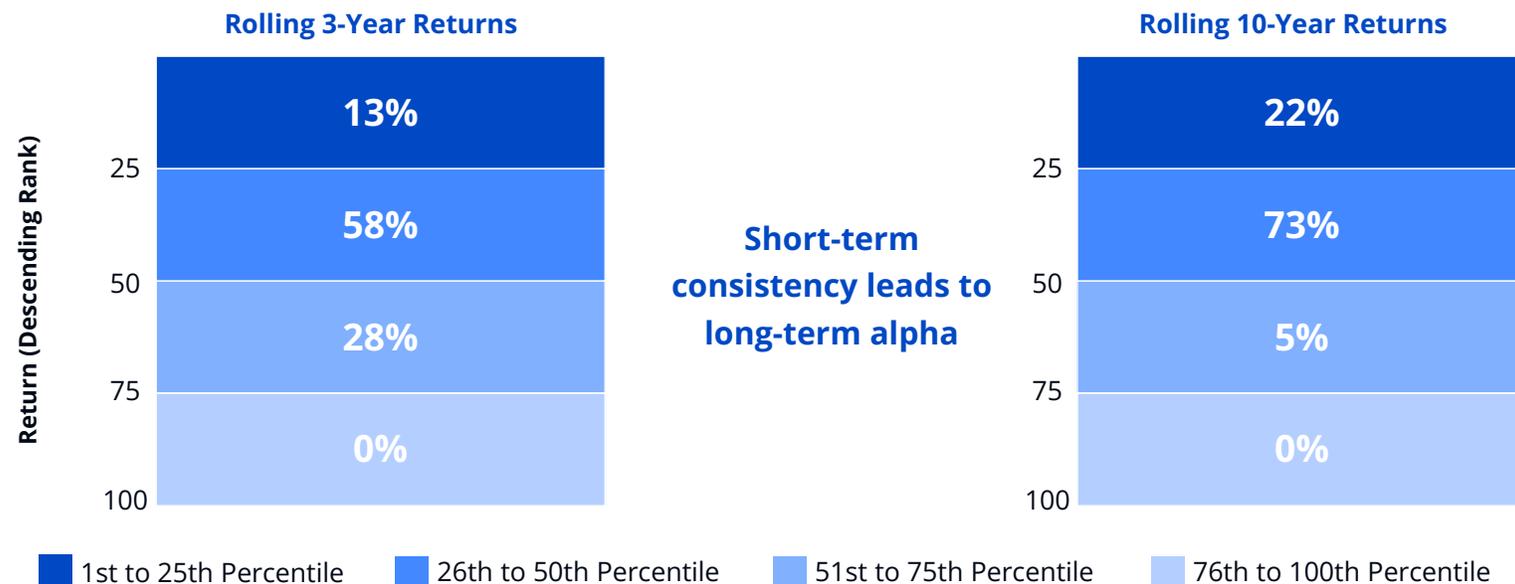

Since the end of 2021, leadership between small-cap value and large-cap growth has varied and been less consistent. A handful of technology stocks has helped propel large-cap growth's recent performance.

Performance shown is historical and is not indicative of future returns. Investment returns and principal value will vary, and shares may be worth more or less at redemption than at original purchase. Performance shown is as of date indicated, and current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. Historical Peer Rankings

Investing in small-capitalization stocks may involve greater volatility and lower liquidity than larger company stocks. Investing in value stocks may limit downside risk over time; however, the Fund may produce more modest gains than riskier stock funds as a trade-off for this potentially lower risk. Investing in foreign markets may involve heightened risk due to currency fluctuations and economic and political risks. To the extent the Fund invests more heavily in particular sectors, its performance will be sensitive to factors affecting those sectors. Financial sector companies are heavily regulated and particularly sensitive to interest rate fluctuations. The Fund's incorporation of environmental, social and/or governance (ESG) considerations in its investment strategy may cause it to underperform funds that do not incorporate these considerations. The use of futures contracts for cash management may subject the Fund to losing more money than invested. The Fund participates in a securities lending program. Please see the prospectus for a complete discussion of the Fund's risks. There can be no assurances that the investment objectives of this Fund will be met.

The Russell 2000 Value Index is an unmanaged index of those stocks in the Russell 2000 Index with lower price-to-book ratios and lower forecasted growth values. The Russell 1000® Growth Index measures the performance of the large-cap growth segment of the U.S. equity universe. It includes those Russell 1000 companies with higher price-to-book ratios and higher forecasted growth values.

For each fund with at least a three-year history, Morningstar calculates a Morningstar Rating™ based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a fund's monthly performance (including the effects of sales charges, loads and redemption fees), placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of funds in each category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. (Each share class is counted as a fraction of one fund within the scale and rated separately, which may cause slight variations in the distribution percentages.) The Overall Morningstar Rating for a fund is derived from a weighted average of performance figures associated with its three-, five- and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. In the U.S.-domiciled Small Value category, the American Beacon Small Cap Value Fund (R5 Class) was rated 3 stars out of 462 funds overall.
