SECTOR-LEVEL ATTRIBUTION (R5 CLASS)

Performance Commentary for the Quarter Ended March 31, 2026

Note: The comments below focus on the absolute contribution to the Fund's return and are not relative to the index. Source of attribution return data is Man AHL. Returns are gross of fees with the exception of Fund return, which is net of fees.

- Equities were down marginally with losses predominately from positions in the S&P 500 Index and Nasdaq-100 Index. Positions in the South Korea's KOSPI and the Tokyo Stock Price Index provided some relief.
- Inflation sensitive assets contributed positively, as rising oil prices drove gains in commodities. Inflation-linked bonds also contributed, with positions across regions generating gains.
- Credit weighed on performance as high-yield and investment-grade spreads widened in Europe and the U.S.
- Fixed Income struggled, driven by positions in 10-year U.K. gilts and South Korean bonds. Positions in longer-dated U.S. Treasuries and 10-year Canadian bonds were profitable.
- Exposure fluctuated throughout the quarter, with a material reduction in March. Overlays were active across the board. The correlation overlay fully engaged, cutting portfolio exposure by half. The volatility overlay was active at both the portfolio and asset class levels, while the momentum overlay was active in credit, equities and bonds.

Derivative instruments may be highly sensitive to market factors, have less liquidity than other investments and involve the potential for losses to exceed the amount invested. Interest rate risk is the risk that debt securities will decrease in value with increases in market interest rates. Quantitative models may not perform as expected and may result in losses for the Fund. Investments in high-yield securities (commonly referred to as "junk bonds") are subject to greater levels of credit, interest rate, market and liquidity risks than investment-grade securities. In a period of sustained deflation, inflation index-linked securities may not pay any income and may suffer a loss. Investing in foreign and emerging markets may involve heightened risk due to currency fluctuations and economic and political risks. Regulatory changes may impair the Fund's ability to qualify for federal income tax treatment as a regulated investment company, which could result in the Fund and shareholders incurring significant income tax expense. The Fund may have high portfolio turnover risk, which could increase the Fund's transaction costs and possibly have a negative impact on performance. Because the Fund may invest in fewer issuers than a more diversified portfolio, the fluctuating value of a single holding may have a greater effect on the value of the Fund. Please see the prospectus for a complete discussion of the Fund's risks. There can be no assurances that the investment objectives of this Fund will be met.

Important Information: All investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal. Indexes are unmanaged and one cannot invest directly in an index.

A portion of fees charged to the R5 Class has been waived since Fund inception. Performance prior to waiving fees was lower than actual returns shown for periods when fees were waived. Specific information about any Fund may be found at americanbeaconfunds.com or in the prospectus.
